李煜

破阵子

四十年来家国，三千里地山河。凤阁龙楼连霄汉，玉树琼枝作烟萝。几曾识干戈？
一旦归为臣虏，沈腰潘鬓消磨。最是仓皇辞庙日，教坊犹奏别离歌。垂泪对宫娥。

Li Yu

Tune: “Po Zhen Zi”

Farewell Song

Forty years of family and reign.
Three thousand li* of river and mountainous scenes.
Phoenix pavilions and dragon towers rose to the sky.
Deep into the mist were beautiful trees, flowery branches, and vines.
How little I knew about weapons and military might?

Suddenly I have become a captured prisoner.
So emaciated I now have the look of Shen’s slender waist and Pan’s hoary hair.
How could I forget the day I hurriedly left my ancestral shrine?
The imperial musicians played farewell songs as we said good-bye.
I faced my court ladies with tears in my eyes.

*li is a Chinese unit of length that is equivalent to about a half kilometer.
Shen Yue (441–513) was an official and scholar of the Liang Dynasty.
Pan Yue (247–300), known for his attractive appearance, was a scholar in the Jin Dynasty.
